POLIS

Slayman Ali's Arabs, heading the program of excellent vaudeville at Polis, continue to thrill large audiences with their wonderful and bewildering feats of gyrating gymnastics and pyramid building. There are ten in the troupe, and everyone of them does a day's work in the time they occupy the stage. To-night will afford a final opportunity to local theatregoers to witness this big attraction as well as the other excellent features of the program.

The photoplay feature is "The Flaming Sword," a five part film story of the open sea. The scenes are laid on the rock-bound coast of Maine and on a desert island where two lovers are accidentally thrown together. Jane Grey, late star of "Kick In," and Lionel Barrymore are featured in this big screen attraction.

The Three Vagrants are winning additional laurels daily in their picturesque musical novelty, in which three instrumentalists of talent and one vocal soloist make big hits. Stewart and Box company, in "A Check for a Thousand," have a rollicking one-act comedy skit that brings many laughs.

Other features of the program are Selbini & Grovini, in the "Gypsy Jesters" of vaudeville entertainment; Williams & Shannon, versatile variety artists; and Charles & Ada Latham in a very happy comedy skit.

PLAZA

More stirring sex drama has ever been filmed than "Island of Regeneration" in six masterful parts and it is proving one of the greatest drawing cards the Plaza has had to offer this season. It contains a most unusual theme and takes many liberties that place it in direct contrast to the conventional and wearisome plots of the ordinary play of this type. The story seeks to establish new views regarding the supposed conventions existing between man and woman and then so cleverly shakes off the first impression by pointing out the folly of the ideals of the heroine of the story, that interest is held in a vital grip from the first scene to the last. Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno are featured in the picture and their conceptions of the roles of castaways on a South Sea Island are commendable examples of powerful acting.

The Lavine Cimaron Trio in their odd skit entitled "Fun in a Gymnasium," work up a veritable gale of enthusiasm at every appearance. The knockabout acrobatic work and ground tumbling is exceptionally clever.

Hallen & Hunter have a most pleasing offering that is scoring heavily. The male members of the act is a very funny comedian and his charming partner renders several violin solos that bring pleasing returns.

The Monarch Comedy Four in a comedy skit entitled "Fun in a Gymnasium," work up a veritable gale of enthusiasm at every appearance. The knockabout acrobatic work and ground tumbling is exceptionally clever.

The dancing part of their act is unusually pleasing.

Charlie Chaplin in "Mabel's Married Life" hands out many a laugh that is thoroughly appreciated.

EMPIRE

The opening episode of the new film serial "The Broken Coin" featuring Grace Cunard, Frances Ford and an all star cast heads the program offered at Keeney's Empire today.

"The Broken Coin" was written by Emerson Hough, an author well known through a number of excellent works. The scenario was written by Grace Cunard and the entire serial will be staged by Francis Ford.

The story unfolded in this serial is entirely different from anything yet produced and will without a doubt win even more admirers than "The Master King" or "The Black Box."

A thrilling detective story is unfolded in the five part detective photo-drama, "The Black Triangle," which heads the program tomorrow.
